

Brownbag Lunch

Lundi 13 décembre 2021

(12:15 – 14:00)

Rue Abram-Louis Breguet 1 Salle 222

Online :

<https://unine.webex.com/unine/j.php?MTID=mfa71368b04806dd938df989d7cf5964b>

Organisé par
Lisa Marie Borrelli [LABO MAPS]

The politics of producing and sharing knowledge in the migration control field: Dilemmas, challenges and practices

Avec

Annika Lindberg, Postdoctoral Researcher, University of Gothenburg

Stanley 'Steve' Edward, migrant-activiste et organisateur, et

Sophie Andreetta, Postdoctoral Researcher, University of Liège

This brownbag seminar invites early career researchers working in the fields of border and migration studies to a conversation on the politics of knowledge production and dissemination of research within the contested field of migration and border control. The seminar will begin with input by Sophie Andreetta, postdoctoral researcher at the University of Liège, Annika Lindberg, postdoctoral researcher at the University of Gothenburg and Stanley 'Steve' Edward, migrant activist and organiser, who will discuss issues of who is considered a knowing subject on migration matters, and whom knowledge is produced for. Participants are welcome to listen in, but are also encouraged to share their own questions, queries and examples of challenges they encountered when sharing and communicating research results to different audiences, or examples of how they resolved them.

Toutes les personnes intéressées sont cordialement invitées

Pour plus d'informations : lisa.borrelli@unine.ch