Administrative questions
Financial aspects

Neuchâtel is situated in a region with less problems related to housing and mobility. It is advisable however to plan a certain budget during your studies.

Indicative budget:
www.unine.ch/etudier/home/demarrer/budget.html
Taxes universitaires:
www.unine.ch/unine/home/admission/taxes-universitaires.html

Scholarships

Different types of scholarships are available:

- cantonal scholarships
- federal scholarships
- scholarships and subsidies funded privately via the University

Scholarships are also available for those who wish to carry out a part of their studies in another Swiss university or abroad (Mobility).

Financial aid

Under certain circumstances it is possible to request and obtain financial assistance from the University’s Social Services office, who administers the University’s social welfare fund and privately funded subsidies intended for students in need.

For questions concerning financial assistance:

Student employment

Working part-time while pursuing your studies is possible – indeed, many students do so. It all depends, however, on the type of work (hours, level of activity and fatigue involved) and your chosen field of study. The situation varies according to the Faculties – contact your study advisor for more information.

Coordinating university studies with military service

There are provisions for coordinating military obligations with university studies. The Enrolment Office acts as a liaison. Training at the Swiss Army school of recruits can be completed between the ages of 18 and 23 and training for non-commissioned officers and officers from ages 19 to 24, or even 25 if the request for deferral is justified.

All requests for deferment of military service must be accompanied by:
- a deferral request form available on the website of the Swiss Army www.vtg.admin.ch
- a copy of the examination registration application, duly stamped by the relevant Faculty

Insurance

Social security AVS/AI/APG
- AVS: Swiss old age and survivor’s insurance
- AI: disability insurance
- APG: unemployment insurance

Swiss and foreign students living in Switzerland pay CHF 480.- (+ 20.- administrative fees) per year in social security contributions starting on the 1st of January of the first year following their 20th birthday. Students who are gainfully employed pay contributions from the 1st of January in the year following their 17th birthday.

Schools and universities submit lists of their students to the Neuchâtel Cantonal Compensation Office once a year. Using this information, the Compensation Office then issues an annual bill for the contributions due. The Cantonal compensation office which is authorized to affiliate the students has jurisdiction in their place of study.

It is extremely important not to neglect payment to this insurance as you will risk being penalised during your pension years, even if this seems to be a long way away for the moment!

Illness and accident insurance

All regular students enrolled at UniNE must take out basic illness and accident insurance from a Swiss health insurance plan recognized under the Swiss Health Insurance Law (LAMaL). As you are free to choose between the different plans, it is in your best interest to compare the different premiums and benefits, for example at www.priminfo.ch

Students whose earnings do not exceed a certain amount (which varies according to the Canton and their personal situation) may be entitled to a reduction in their premium. Requests for a reduction must be made to the competent authority in the Canton of residence.

Please note: It is obligatory for everyone living in Switzerland, including foreign students, to have and contribute to a basic illness and accident insurance. If you take up residence in the Canton of Neuchâtel, this insurance must be acquired from the Resident Registration Office of your “commune” within the first three months following the deposit of your papers in your commune.

A foreign student may receive dispensation from this obligation if they can certify that they are covered by insurance offering the same benefits elsewhere. Please note, however, that the conditions for exemption are very restrictive.

www.unine.ch/unine/home/etudes/calendrier.html

Rules and regulations

Being aware of the rules and regulations concerning your studies and examinations are of importance in order to successfully complete your studies! You will be able to find out the maximum number of retakes for each evaluation/exam, the grading scale used, the definition of the notion of a module, absence justification, maximum amount of semester allowed, recognition of transfer credits, cases of elimination...

Go to the welcome page of the concerned faculty. Under the heading “Dispositions générales” found under “Lois et règlements” you will also find general provisions which concern all faculties.

Study plans
The study plan for each program that you are registered on lists the obligatory and optional courses. The conditions for successfully completing the program, as well as any work needed to be completed at the end of the program, or thesis, are also detailed.

The study plan is made up of numerous columns, with the “type” of the teaching, the semester taught in, the name of the instructor, the number of teaching hours and ECTS credits, whether the course is obligatory or optional, as well as the modalities of evaluation of the course.
As a general rule, exams are held during the exam sessions (January and June). The faculty also organises a session around mid-August/beginning September.

The study plan shows how any ECTS credits are attributed to each course. One ECTS credit corresponds to a workload of 25 to 30 hours of course hours, work done outside of course hours and exam preparation. The bachelor program is equal to 180 ECTS credits while a Master consists of either 90 or 120 ECTS credits.

Where can you find the study plans? Go to the page of the Faculty concerned and select the study plan that corresponds to your program.

The course descriptors give one the precise content, learning objectives and evaluation of each course. The study plan also mentions the name of the professor, the teaching language, the number of ECTS credits and the semester concerned for each course (Fall or Spring)

- The university network BeNeFri combines the universities of Bern, Neuchâtel and Fribourg. It offers students enrolled in one of these universities the possibility to study in either of the two others and take examinations there. The exchanges are limited to fields of study, see the BeNeFri website for the list.
- A class somewhere else? You can also choose a course in another Swiss university which is not a part of the University of Neuchâtel network. Contact the University that you are interested in and they will indicate the procedure for enrolment. Make sure you also contact your faculty for approval.

Internships in Europe

Through the Swiss-European Mobility program, you may participate in a two to six-month internship in a company, administration, laboratory or museum in a country belonging to the EU. The internship may be used to validate credits in your study program. The possibility of financial aid may be available.

International and national exchanges

During your studies, you have the possibility of attending another university for one or two semesters. In Europe, under the Swiss European Mobility (Erasmus), in Quebec under the BCI student exchange or with special conventions in the United States, South Africa, Australia, Russia or Taiwan. Or simply in another University in Switzerland.

You will remain registered at UniNE but you will be exonerated for classroom and laboratory fees and be exempted from the fees of the partner university. The courses followed in the other University will be validated through ECTS credits under the conditions prescribed by your faculty. This is provided that you have studied already at least for two semesters at UniNE.

● Student societies

Belles-Lettres Neuchâtel

Just short of its two hundredth anniversary, Belles-Lettres is an association of students which organises a wide range of activities, ranging from conferences and excursions to crazy parties! Despite its name, membership of the Belles-Lettres society is not limited to students at the Faculty of Humanities – far from it!

Hétaïra

“Sorority and eclecticism” is the motto of Hétaïra, a small, society of women who have become increasingly active on campus. Hetairas uphold fine old club traditions and, in their own inimitable way, combine them with innovative ideas and an idiosyncratic philosophy. When night falls, they come together to organise events, chat or just relax.

Zofingue Neuchâtel

Zofingue is the oldest student society of the city (1823). Its members meet every Friday evening in their locale. But what exactly is Zofingue Neuchâtel? A mix of culture (organising conferences and participating in official ceremonies), encouragement and support between students and... planning lots of parties!

● Meals
The Faculties of Humanities (Espace Tilo-Frey 1), Law and Economics & Business (Avenue du 1er-Mars 26), and Sciences (Emile-Argand 11) each have services offering lunch or snacks.

In addition, several cafés and restaurants near the University buildings offer food at moderate prices.

● Accommodation
The University of Neuchâtel is located in the heart of the city and does not have a campus as per se. Most students, who do not live at home, have accommodation either in the student’s residences, with a local or with roommates in shared apartments. The University does not guarantee accommodation. It does however do its best to help students look for a place to stay as well as help with formalities. It is advisable to look for a place before the beginning of the Academic year. The average rent may vary from 450.- to 800.- Swiss francs per month.

The “Appart-Ages” program put students in contact with elderly persons or with families who wish to accommodate a student in exchange for chores. It also promotes exchange among generations.
